

"Clark Field Notes--Keelboat" William Clark Field Notes, 1804, page showing keelboat

The WILD AND WET side Of the Lewis and Clark Expedition

DATE: Tuesday – July 15, 2003

TIME: 9 to 5

PLACE: Natural Resources Education Center, Indianapolis

Join us to discover the Lewis and Clark historic journey of discovery. One of the major purposes of the journey was to explore the natural history of the Louisiana Purchase, which had been recently added to the United States. In their capacity as naturalists, Lewis and Clark described many plant and animals that were new to science. Live and stuffed specimens were sent back east for study. They also explored and mapped the watersheds of the Missouri and Columbia rivers for the first time.

This workshop is designed for participants who have been through Project WILD or Project WET. We will hear from historic reenactors about the journey and life in the early 1800's. You will try out and receive copies of Project WILD and Project WET activities adapted to help teach about the journey. Sessions will include a look at journaling, preserving specimens, water history, descriptions of the wildlife discovered by the expedition and much more. We are working to provide a showing of the Lewis and Clark IMAX movie in downtown Indianapolis as well.

Confirmations will be mailed with a map, agenda, lunch information and hotel listings.

Workshop is limited to 30 participants. Registrations must be received by June 30, 2003 or until full. If you must cancel after you register – please let us know so that we may give your spot to someone on the waiting list.

Please return to: W & W Lewis and Clark – July
NREC-Fort Harrison State Park
5785 Glenn Road, Indianapolis, IN 46216-1066
Questions: Warren Gartner 317-549-0348 projectwild@dnr.state.in.us
Susan Schultz 317-562-0788 projectwet@dnr.state.in.us
Fax 317-562-0790

Corps Member Treed by Grizzly

REGISTRATION By June 30, 2003 – Limited to 30 participants
WILD & WET Side of Lewis and Clark – held on Saturday - May 10, 2003

Name: _____

Affiliation/work: _____

Address _____

City, State and Zip: _____

Phone: (_____) _____ E-mail: _____

I have attended a WILD _____ and or WET _____ workshop.

